CATCHER

A diagram of a baseball field illustrating player positions and movement paths. The field is shown in a top-down view with the pitcher's mound at the bottom center. The bases are marked with white dots. The pitcher's mound is marked with a white square. The catcher's position is marked with a red triangle labeled 'C'. The first baseman is marked with a blue circle labeled '1B'. The second baseman is marked with a blue circle labeled '2B'. The shortstop is marked with a blue circle labeled 'SS'. The third baseman is marked with a blue circle labeled '3B'. The left fielder is marked with a blue circle labeled 'LF'. The center fielder is marked with a blue circle labeled 'CF'. The right fielder is marked with a blue circle labeled 'RF'. The pitcher is marked with a blue circle labeled 'P'. The runner is marked with a red triangle labeled 'R'. Solid black arrows indicate the movement paths of the players: from the pitcher to the catcher, from the catcher to the first base, from the first base to the second base, from the second base to the shortstop, from the shortstop to the third base, from the third base to the left field, from the left field to the center field, and from the center field to the right field. Dashed black arrows indicate the movement paths of the runner: from the pitcher's mound to the first base, from the first base to the second base, from the second base to the shortstop, from the shortstop to the third base, from the third base to the left field, from the left field to the center field, and from the center field to the right field.
